MESSAGE FROM THE CITY MANAGER

It's been three months since I started as your City Manager. These first few months have flown by quickly but I want to report that I am thoroughly enjoying this new venture.

As part of my new position, I have a goal to increase resident involvement in the City of SeaTac government. There are many ways in which residents can get involved. Reading through the SeaTac Quarterly is a good start to get acquainted with what is happening. Another way is to become a member of one of the Citizen's Advisory Committees. We have nearly a dozen committees which assist the City Council in decision-making and in the setting of City policies. These opportunities are open to residents of SeaTac or persons who own, operate, or are employed at a business in the City of SeaTac. The committees cover a range of topics including arts and culture, community services, planning, senior citizen services, and sidewalks. You can learn more about these committees on our website.

Another alternative is to attend the Community Leadership Academy. For several years, the City has hosted this multi-day event to educate the general public about the inner workings of government. Topics include fire, police, public works, parks, streets, and more. In order to make it easier for residents to attend, this year, the City compressed the eight-night academy to just two Saturdays, April 27 and May 4. This event is free and you can sign up on our City website.

Thanks to all of you who are currently involved and I look forward to meeting many more of you through these community engagement opportunities.

CARL COLE • City Manager

MORE SERVICES AND LESS TAXES

Since 2016 SeaTac has truly delivered “more service and less tax.” We are currently in our best financial condition, while also achieving higher levels of service.

We’ve added seven police officers and increased funding to support human services for SeaTac residents. We accomplished this without the six percent utility tax and without taking the annual allowable one percent property tax bump for the prior four years. Since we’ve also established the largest reserve fund in SeaTac’s history, it’s fair to say this performance improvement is far greater than 10 percent. How is this possible? And is it sustainable? Described below are some methods, which resulted in improvements, and should continue to ensure sustainable results for many years.

First, I want to acknowledge the city staff in achieving this success. Without their support it couldn’t have happened. You’ve probably heard the phrase “trust but verify.” Prior to 2016 a majority of the City Council didn’t support adequate verification. The current City Council is now involved in several levels of verification. In fact, I’ve heard the current SeaTac Finance Director remark that the Council’s active engagement in review and verification of vouchers has reaped positive financial results for the City.

One of the first big changes was to re-institute the Council Committee structure. Council committees were eliminated under a prior City Council, which meant less verification by councilmembers. (It was under that model the six percent utility tax began.) Currently, it requires tremendous time by City Councilmembers in several new committees for verification.

Another change was to begin detailed voucher review. Individual councilmembers spend countless hours verifying vouchers, down to every receipt and invoice. The Council also changed the Biennial Budget to include ongoing monitoring of its performance.

However, the story begins nearly 10 years earlier. Some of us on the City Council saw City operational deficiencies when compared to our years working at Boeing. We encouraged the City Manager to implement electronic time keeping, to allow tracking staff time on particular tasks and projects. Boeing has used time accounting for more than 100 years; however, many municipal governments today are still not tracking time in detail.

Implementing a time keeping system was not simple, so it was finally achieved only last year under our former City Manager, Joe Scorcio. In the past the City left money on the table with Sound Transit, because it couldn’t bill the agency for detailed staff time. That won’t happen again.

Since 2016 some staff members voluntarily took jobs elsewhere. At one point we were down twenty-two heads and remaining staff absorbed the work of multiple departed employees. While this was traumatic in the short term, it forced prioritization of tasks and in some cases we didn’t replace all staff. These efficiencies occurred without laying off anyone, as they took other jobs they preferred.

There’s more improvement examples in SeaTac—some accounting for millions of dollars. In summary, we have a leaner more efficient city government today, plus we’ve learned lessons positioning us for better times in the future.

Sincerely,

RICK FORSCHLER • Councilmember

NEW COUNCILMEMBER STANLEY TOMBS JR.

Welcome newly appointed City Councilmember Stanley Tombs Jr. The City Council chose Tombs during a Special Council Meeting to fill vacant

Mr. Tombs was sworn in at the January 22, 2019 Regular Council Meeting and will serve until the certification of the November 2019 General Election.

Tombs was born and raised in SeaTac even before the City was incorporated. Tombs is retired from the legal industry. He was the former Vice-Chair of the SeaTac Planning Commission and has been a member since July 2017. In addition, Tombs attended the previous City of SeaTac Community Leadership Academy which teaches residents about how the City government operates.

Successful Audit

THE CITY PASSED A STATE AUDIT. The audit found the City was in compliance with the items being audited.

The State Auditor's Office (SAO) is responsible for auditing Washington's more than 2,000 local governments, ranging from the largest counties to the smallest special-purpose districts. Audits are one way the people of Washington can see how their government is working. The audit process is thorough, independent, and transparent. It is a chance to see what is being done right, what might be wrong, and to note where improvements can be made. The SAO completed the City of SeaTac's 2017 Accountability and Financial audit in December 2018.

An accountability audit evaluates whether a local government has adhered to applicable state laws, regulations, and its own policies and procedures. Records are audited to ensure public funds are accounted for and controls are in place to protect public resources from misappropriation and misuse. For the year ending December 31, 2017, the areas examined were those representing the highest risk of fraud, loss, abuse, or noncompliance and consisted of general disbursements, small and attractive asset tracking, third-party cash receipting, cost allocation, Municipal court cash receipting, financial condition and sustainability, and open public meeting minutes. The audit found the City complied with all areas examined.

A financial statement audit provides an independent opinion on the City's financial statements and the results of operations and cash flows. In other words, these audits determine whether the financial statements present a reliable, accurate picture of the City's finances. The SAO found no instances of noncompliance or other matters that are required to be reported. ♦

City Survey about Broadband Access

The City is currently seeking to understand if current broadband infrastructure and services are sufficient to support the area's residents and business needs. To collect this data they enlisted the support of statewide broadband nonprofit NoaNet, who has been serving Washington State to support broadband infrastructure expansion for the past 20 years.

Through this partnership, NoaNet has launched a city-wide community broadband survey to determine which, if any, areas are being negatively impacted by lack of quality Internet access, affordability, or choice.

For non-English speakers there are paper surveys available. There is tremendous language diversity in SeaTac and to reach local residents who are non-English speakers there are paper surveys available in Spanish and Somali at the Valley View Library, at the local schools, and at City Hall.

The survey will be open to the public until mid-May, when the aggregate data will be evaluated by NoaNet in conjunction with current infrastructure and services available to assess if there is a need for public investment in broadband infrastructure. Until then, the City will be collecting feedback from the public on an online survey portal at <http://noanet.servicezones.net/seatac>.

AIRPORT AND CITY AMENITIES WAYFINDING SIGNAGE PROJECT

You may have noticed new signs throughout the City. Some of these signs are called wayfinding signs and are designed to help individuals find important places like City Hall or the airport.

City staff worked with a consultant to design and install eight wayfinding sign fixtures that will help the residents, travelers, and visitors find their way around town when driving to the Sea-Tac International Airport and other City amenities. This project helps improve the traveler's experience and clarifies navigation along two main arterial gateways throughout the City: S. 188th and S. 200th Streets.

The Port of Seattle Business Intelligence Enplaning Passenger Survey 2014-2017 revealed more than 50 percent of the 46.9 million airport travelers use private or rental vehicles when traveling to the airport. Due to this fact, it is important to improve all access points these travelers choose. Overall passenger volume at Sea-Tac Airport reached 49.8 million people in 2018. This increase in passenger traffic is all the more reason to help travelers get to their desired destinations efficiently while diverting unnecessary traffic from the residential neighborhoods.

Other highlighted amenities included in this project are: City Hall and Municipal Court, Angle Lake Station and other light rail stations, lodging, dining, and parking. We believe the wayfinding signage project will improve visitor's navigation of the City of SeaTac.

Take Your Visiting Friends and Family on an Adventure in Seattle's Backyard

SPRING IS THE PERFECT TIME TO ENTERTAIN FAMILY AND FRIENDS in Seattle Southside. The rain dies down, the sun starts to come out, and the gorgeous plant life of the Pacific Northwest begins to “spring” into action. You don’t have to go to downtown Seattle for springtime fun (although that is an option via the Link Light Rail), there are plenty of world-class attractions and international dining options near the airport to keep your visitors happy.

First off, if you need to find somewhere other than your house for your guests to stay, there are plenty of inexpensive hotel options in town. The hotels in Seattle Southside are typically priced 20-30 percent less than their downtown counterparts, and there are many hotels to choose from like the Cedarbrook Lodge, Seattle Airport Marriott, and Crowne Plaza Seattle Airport, just to name a few.

If you’re looking to get outside and enjoy the natural side of the Pacific Northwest, bring your party to the Highline SeaTac Botanical Garden. Explore 5.5 developed acres of beautifully landscaped gardens, filled with the most colorful species of rose, daylily, iris, fuchsia, and more. In addition to the beautiful flowers, Highline SeaTac Botanical Garden is also home to the Seike Japanese Garden, a traditional and historic pond-and-mountain style Japanese landscape. Plus, you won’t have to worry about paying for everyone to see the gardens – admission is FREE!

When was the last time you paid a visit to The Museum of Flight? Aviation buffs will be left in awe after a day exploring the history of flight from biplanes, to WWII fighters, to an original Air Force One, to the space shuttle trainer used by NASA astronauts. This spring will be an exciting time at the museum. On April 13, Destination Moon: The Apollo 11 Mission, the travelling exhibit which features artifacts from the space race, including the NASA Apollo 11 command module, Columbia, will open to the public. You won’t want to miss it.

When it comes time to refuel your group, the dining options in Seattle Southside are virtually limitless. You could enjoy a rich cup of Ethiopian coffee and a veggie platter at Star Coffee, or hot and fresh Taiwanese soup dumplings at Din Tai Fung, or a savory BBQ platter from Sharp’s Roasthouse. The point is, your guests won’t go hungry here.

To sum it up, if you live in the area, and you’ve got visitors coming soon, don’t fret. There are plenty of entertainment and dining options in your own backyard. We’ve merely scratched the surface of fun and excitement in Seattle Southside, but if you want a few more ideas, visit our website at www.seattlesouthside.com, and our spring break page at www.seattlesouthside.com/spring-break. ♦

COMMUNITY LEADERSHIP ACADEMY

SeaTac will host a Community Leadership Academy in spring to increase community involvement while sharing information about how city government operates. The academy will include presentations on topics including fire, police, parks, streets, and more.

The two-session academy will take place from 9–5 PM on Saturday, April 27 & Saturday, May 4

Applications are due no later than March 29, 2019 and can be found at: www.seatacwa.gov/communityleadershipacademy

SOUND TRANSIT Quarterly Update

The City and Sound Transit reached a significant project milestone in February of 2019. The City entered into two key agreements that will allow for the construction of the Federal Way Link Extension Project from the Angle Lake Station to the southern City limits and ending at the Federal Way Transit Center. The 7.8-mile extension (around 1 mile is located in SeaTac) will provide additional capacity for people coming from areas south of the City to access employment and businesses in SeaTac as well as Sea-Tac International Airport. It will also allow improved connectivity for people going to Highline Community College and destinations further south. It is estimated that it will take approximately 14 minutes to travel from the Airport Station (176th Street) to Federal Way.

In August 2019, a contract will be awarded to allow for the design and construction of the rail system. Initially, the contractor will prioritize demolition of select Sound Transit-owned properties, the relocation of utilities, and clearing and grading to prepare for guideway construction. The City will be working very closely with Sound Transit and the contractor throughout the five-year construction period to ensure the terms and conditions of the two agreements are upheld. Light rail service will begin in 2024.

Zombie Properties

The term “zombie properties” is used to describe residential homes that are neither alive nor dead, but are caught in the limbo of an incomplete foreclosure. These properties are more than likely vacant and are a tremendous option in the SeaTac community.

As the weather gets colder, vacant homes become an attractive option for transients to occupy. As a reminder from your Code Compliance Officers, if you own a “zombie property,” remember to maintain it as this helps the community avoid health and safety issues. Things you can do: cut the vegetation, remove trash or junk, and secure all windows and door entries.

SeaTac Police have a “No Trespassing Authorization Form” that can be filled out by the owners of record. This form may be obtained from the Police Department at SeaTac City Hall. It allows SeaTac Police to access properties to turn away any person(s) not allowed on the vacant site. Please do the City and your neighbors a favor and get a form filled out and turned in. For more information about the authorization form, contact our police services at 206.973.4900.

Forward Movement on SeaTac Center Redevelopment

Following the City Council’s December 13, 2018 approval of a Purchase and Sales Agreement (PSA) with CAP Acquisitions LLC (Inland Group), final details were completed and the final PSA document was signed on January 17, 2019. This began a period of due diligence and key deadlines leading towards a closing (transfer of ownership) later in 2019. Here are some of the recent highlights and updates:

- Pre-application meeting (permitting and development agreement) with Inland Group was held on February 5, 2019.
- As currently presented, the redevelopment project envisions 201 units of market-rate housing, 417 workforce housing units, plus 37,500 sq. ft. of commercial space.
- The 90-day feasibility contingency period runs until mid-April, followed by a 60-day financing contingency period.

- The property closing is scheduled to occur by fall 2019, following the contingency periods.
- Prior to the closing, the City and Inland Group will also negotiate a Development Agreement, which will include environmental review under the State Environmental Policy Act (SEPA). SEPA does provide for a public comment period.
- Following the SEPA process, the City Council will conduct a public hearing on the Development Agreement this summer before final action is taken on the Agreement. ♦

LEARN MORE

In addition to the public notice requirements of SEPA and the Development Agreement, there will be more information about the redevelopment project on the City’s website and City Manager’s Weekly Update.

EMPLOYMENT VACANCIES

The City will be hiring for seasonal positions beginning early Spring 2019. Positions such as:

- Assistant Beach Manager
- Beach Manager
- Lifeguard
- Parks & Public Works Seasonal Maintenance Worker
- Recreation Leader 2 - Senior, Teens & Youth programs

Major Planning Projects

COMPREHENSIVE PLAN AMENDMENT PROCESS UNDERWAY

About the Project: SeaTac's Comprehensive Plan presents the community's vision for how the City should grow and change. Every other year (in odd-numbered years), any individual, organization, business, or other group may propose amendments to the Comprehensive Plan.

Project Status: Applications for proposed amendments to SeaTac's Comprehensive Plan are due Friday, March 29, 2019. The Planning Commission and City Council will be reviewing all proposed amendments during the spring and summer months.

For More Information: The project schedule and other information is available on the project website at the following link: www.seatacwa.gov/compplan. You can also contact the project manager Kate Kaehny at 206.973.4750 or kkaehny@seatacwa.gov.

SHORELINE MASTER PROGRAM UPDATE

About the Project: SeaTac is conducting a periodic review of its Shoreline Master Plan (SMP) as required every eight years by the Shoreline Management Act (Chapter 90.58 RCW). SeaTac's SMP, a land use plan for local shoreline areas, applies to the lakeshore along Angle Lake and 200 feet landward of the lakeshore.

This review is not a major update like the City completed in 2010. Instead, the periodic review is limited in scope to changes that occurred to state laws and rules since the 2010 update. Additionally, the update ensures that the SMP is consistent with other SeaTac plans and regulations.

For More Information: The proposed amendments, public comment opportunities, and other information are available on the project website at the following link: www.seatacwa.gov/shorelineupdate. You can also contact the project manager Jennifer Kester at 206.973.4842 or jkester@seatacwa.gov.

Curb Marker Program Volunteer Opportunities

All of the pollutants left on our roads and in our yards are washed down our local storm drains every time we have heavy rains. As the rainwater flows along the streets, it collects oil drippings from our cars, along with excess fertilizers, herbicides, pesticides, and animal droppings from our lawns. This stream of pollutants continues to flow into the storm drains traveling directly to the nearest stream or lake. These non-point source pollutants can severely degrade water quality and damage wildlife habitat in our local waterways. It is a very common misconception that stormwater is treated before it reaches streams and lakes.

The City's Public Works Department has developed a Storm Drain Curb Marker program designed to increase public awareness that all City storm drains flow into our wetlands, streams, lakes, and/or the Puget Sound with little to no treatment. Through this program, youth groups and other special interest groups volunteer to glue colorful four-inch plastic markers to curbs, sidewalks, or roads adjacent to catch basins in residential neighborhoods. Installing these curb markers reminds people that storm drains are for rainwater only.

Curb markers are easy to install and are available to volunteer groups from May 1–October 31. You can help protect our natural waterways by volunteering for this great community stewardship program. For more information, contact Stormwater Water Quality Inspector Tom George at 206.973.4753 or by email at tgeorge@seatacwa.gov.

PLANNING A CAR WASH FUNDRAISER?

By checking out a free fish-friendly car wash kit from the City, fundraising groups can help keep harmful soaps and toxic metals from running into the Puget Sound. Or consider a professional car wash organization (e.g. Puget Sound Car Wash Association or Brown Bear Car Wash) charity ticket program for your fund raising event. Contact Water Quality Technician Tom George at 206.973.4753 (tgeorge@seatacwa.gov) for more information or to reserve a FREE car wash kit. For more information regarding the problems facing the Puget Sound, along with workable solutions that we can adopt into our everyday actions to reduce our pollution of the waters, visit www.pugetsoundstartshere.org.

SeaTac's Emergency Management

The Puget Sound Region has been fortunate and has rarely had to deal with the types of disasters that other parts of the country experience. But we know that earthquakes, floods, and other area-wide emergencies are always a possibility.

In November 2017, through an inter-local agreement with the Puget Sound RFA, the City of SeaTac hired Wilfredo Lugo as Emergency Management Program Manager to help the City plan for, respond to, and recover from a disaster, or other large-scale event.

"The position of Emergency Management Program Manager is vital because it provides the residents with a subject matter expert in disaster preparedness and emergency management," says Lugo. "This includes outreach to residential organizations, religious organizations, and businesses to assist in building a more resilient community."

Will Lugo has brought a wealth of experience and education to the position. He is a graduate of the American Military University where he was conferred a bachelor's degree in Homeland Security; he also spent 24 years in the US Army where he specialized in critical event response and mitigation.

"This position also helps the City with emergency preparedness planning and training while serving as the Emergency Coordination Center (ECC) Manager in the event the ECC is activated," says Lugo. "The ECC will also work with the King County Office of Emergency Management as it provides support regionally during a disaster."

Lugo works 28 hours per week for the City and is based at Fire Station 46. Look for him around SeaTac as he helps the City better prepare for a disaster. ♦

Agility, speed, strength, none of these qualities will be of any use in the highly-competitive world of WhirlyBall. Although it combines lacrosse, hockey, and basketball with bumper cars, WhirlyBall has caused great athletes of every stripe to laugh and holler their way to a crushing defeat. If you choose to accept the challenge, you will use hand-held scoops to propel whiffle balls at your scoring target. In a team of five, you will have a bang-up time trying to outscore the competition.

We have an extended care option for participants of our TnT Summer Camp. This will be held at Bow Lake Elementary, in conjunction with our Youth Summer Camp. Teens must sign up for the entire week and must follow youth camp policies while on site (sorry no phones or electronics).
